PLEASE NOTE: All prototypes must be played in the playtesting area. They are not permitted in any other area of the convention.

Playtesting will be scheduled as 2-hour blocks of time at assigned tables. Everyone will receive a minimum of two 2-hour blocks of time. Please indicate your top 4 preferences for time on the form. If you need a four hour block of time please indicate the length of time required for your game's setup, playtest and clean up.

Additional tables will be available on a first-come, first-served basis for playtesting.

Prototypes must not be published, not signed with a publisher, and not currently offered on a crowdfunding site as of the date of the convention.

All designers who have submitted games for playtesting must check in at the PrototypeCon table at the entrance to PrototypeCon to confirm they are in attendance and available to playtest their game at their assigned time.

Retail sales are not allowed during playtesting.

You may collect emails from people who are interested in your game and want to be on your mailing list.

All scheduling is based on a first-come, first-served basis.
